That's the list of original short stories I've posted on Instagram in the last five months. I've also re-posted three older stories

November	1
December	5
January	6
February	10
March	8 + 3

I haven't been writing this many stories a month since I stopped posting stories to my character blogs, which was back in May of 2011. I started in August of 2009. It feels like a lifetime ago.

Doing the blogs was harder than writing these short stories because it all had to come out of my head and all had to fit into the same world.

The Instagram stories are all inspired by someone else's drawing or painting, and they have nothing to do with each other.

I guess the Instagram stories are closer to the 750-word short story contests I use to do back in 2012 and 2013, where we were given a prompt and a word limit.

This month I'm also doing another challenge call March Meet The Maker, where every day there is a different prompt to write about so that people can learn something about me.

These have been really fun, and I've been told it's been fun reading them and getting to know me better, so I suggest to go over to Instagram and search for altivecer (that's me) and check them out.

While you're there, you can start following me, give me some likes and leave a comment.
